VI. METHODOLOGICAL INDICATIONS ON THE DEVELOPMENT OF DISCIPLINE

Guidelines for the development of discipline

The main types of studies in the study of the discipline "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" are lectures and practical exercises.

Lectures are focused on the most important theoretical and problematic issues of countering terrorism, are designed to guide students in the proposed material, to lay the scientific and methodological foundations for further independent work of students, to promote the further development of their analytical thinking, to develop their own positions on the discussed issues of countering terrorism.

Practical (seminar) classes are designed to orient students not only to acquire new knowledge, but also to improve their professional competencies.

Of particular importance for the professional training of students is independent work on the course. It includes: writing an essay, solving practical (situational) problems, preparing for a test.

For a more in-depth study of the issues of each topic of the discipline, the student is recommended to use the recommended sources in the list of normative material, judicial practice and literature: textbooks, monographic studies, normative acts, as well as monitor changes in legislation and analyze judicial practice related to countering terrorism.

Practical (seminar) classes are held with the group and are structured as a conversation-discussion on each question of the plan. When studying a course, it is necessary to study the topics in the sequence in which they are given in the program and plans for practical training. It is advisable to start working through each of the questions with an introduction to the content of the relevant section of the course program and reference to the sources indicated in the list of references.

Practical (seminar) classes are held for students to obtain basic theoretical (educational, scientific) knowledge, as well as to consolidate the theoretical provisions of the law, generalize criminal practice and discuss the opinions of academic theorists.

Methods of testing students' knowledge:

1. Testing (PR-1), which allows you to check that students have a developed conceptual apparatus. Since when testing a student is required to choose the correct answer from several options, the advantage of this method is also the simplicity of the evaluation of results. The solution of tasks in the form of tests represents a certain training, which contributes to the activation of thinking and fixing in the memory of students of legal concepts and terms and other information.

2. Essay (PR-3), which involves the analysis of the problem posed on the basis of a study of regulatory legal acts, basic literature, additional literature, materials of judicial practice on the subject "Terrorism Counteraction:

International Criminal Law and National Practice, identifying existing gaps, problems, contradictions of the legal regulation of countering terrorism, their assessment, as well as proposing their own ways to resolve them.

3. The solution of practical (situational) tasks (PR-11), which shows the degree to which students have practical skills. Problem solving is the traditional and most important method of conducting practical exercises, therefore it is necessary to dwell in greater detail on the consideration of the main approaches to problem solving.

In the process of solving problems, algorithms of legal thinking are mastered, without mastering which successful solution of practical problems is impossible. These algorithms include:

1) the study of the specific situation (relationship), requiring a legal justification or decision;

2) legal assessment or qualification of this situation (relationship);

3) search for relevant regulations and judicial practice;

4) interpretation of legal norms to be applied;

5) the decision to resolve a specific given situation;

6) the rationale for the decision, its formulation in writing;

7) projecting the decision on the reality, forecasting the process of its execution, the achievement of the goals for which it was made.

Task conditions include all the factual circumstances necessary to make a definite decision on a controversial issue formulated in the text of the problem. The solution of the problem must be recorded in a notebook intended for making such records. When solving a problem, its condition need not be rewritten; it is enough to indicate the number of the task, and then formulate your answers to the questions posed in the problem.

The form of the final control of students' knowledge is a test (8 / 7 semester).

When preparing for a test, a student may use a list of sample test questions for self-examination as a guide.

The residual knowledge test allows you to:

- find out the level of mastering students' curriculum;
- assess the formation of students of certain knowledge and skills to use them, necessary and sufficient for future independent legal work;
- to evaluate the ability of students to think creatively and logically correct the answers to the questions posed.

In preparation for the offset includes a repetition of the material covered. To simplify the preparation process, we recommend preparing and recording the answers to the questions, as well as mentioning the most difficult ones, which cause difficulties in preparation. It is also advisable to make a glossary of basic terms (concepts) for each topic.

During the preparation for the test, the student must systematize the whole body of knowledge obtained both in the course "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" and in other related disciplines - executive law, criminology, etc.).

The test is held in the form of an oral survey - an interview (PP-1).

Interview (UO-1) is a means of control, organized as a special conversation between a teacher and a student on topics related to the discipline being studied, and designed to ascertain the student's knowledge of a specific section, topic, problem, etc.

Oral survey (interview) includes at least two questions with the preliminary preparation of the student (no more than 30 minutes).

Guidelines for writing an essay

Writing an essay involves analyzing the problem posed on the basis of a study of regulatory legal acts, basic literature, additional literature, judicial practice materials on the subject “Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice”, identifying existing gaps, problems, contradictions of the legal regulation of countering terrorism, their assessment, as well as proposing their own ways of resolving them.

The volume of the essay should not exceed 20 pages. The interval is 1.5, the font size is 14, the margins: left - 3 cm, right - 1.5 cm, upper and lower - 1.5 cm. Pages should be numbered. Paragraph indent from the beginning of the line is 1.5 cm.

The deadline for submitting an essay is the penultimate practical lesson in the discipline. The essay is given to the teacher conducting the discipline. After checking the text, the student submits an essay in a class held during the week. According to the results of the test a certain grade is given to the student

In evaluating the essay, the correspondence of the content to the chosen topic, the clarity of the structure of work, the ability to work with scientific literature, the ability to pose a problem and analyze it, the ability to think logically, proficiency in professional terminology, and literacy are taken into account.

Approximate topics and criteria for evaluating the essay on the course "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" are given in Appendix 2.

Guidelines for solving problems

In order to correctly solve problems on a specific topic, the student must first study the existing legislation in the field of countering terrorism, other regulatory material on the topic that relates both to the field of countering terrorism and other branches of law, the relevant decisions of the Plenary Sessions of the Supreme Court of the Russian Federation, lecture and training materials, monographic literature recommended by the plan of practical classes. The solution of tasks in a practical lesson consists in the student's statement of the circumstances of the case, the main question of the problem, the questions on which the decision depends, the answers to them. The decision must be developed, consistent, reasoned, supported by references to the factual circumstances of the case, norms of the relevant law, other regulatory material, explanations of the Plenary Sessions of the Supreme Court of the Russian Federation. The answer to the question of the problem involves proving the student's chosen solution.

When solving a task, it is necessary to clarify the content of the task and all the circumstances of the case, as well as carefully analyze the arguments of the conflict and give them an assessment in terms of current legislation.

If the task has already given the decision of the court or other authority, it is required to evaluate its validity and legality.

In addition, it is necessary to answer the theoretical questions posed in the problem in connection with the proposed situation.

The solution of the problem should contain:

- a summary of the circumstances of the case;
- legal assessment of a legal matter;
- references to specific norms of the law or other legal act in the case under consideration;
- conclusions and their rationale for the issue decided in the task.

The solution of practical (situational) tasks is made in writing and is submitted to the teacher for verification.

The approximate list of practical (situational) tasks:

Task 1.

During the passenger flight, Kozlov handed the ship's commander a note demanding to change the flight route and fly to one of the foreign countries. Otherwise, Kozlov threatened to destroy the plane by blasting a grenade, which he pointedly pressed to his chest. After landing at the airport for refueling, the representatives of the special services entered into negotiations with Kozlov, during which he agreed to release the children in the plane, subject to providing him with 500 thousand US dollars and drugs. The capture group managed to detain Kozlov, finding out that Kozlov's grenade was not real, but a quality fake.

Qualify Kozlov's actions.

Task 2.

The head of the regional branch of one of the political movements, Khlebov, with the help of businessman Kotov, organized in the former pioneer camp a two-week gathering for new members at the age of 18-20 years who joined his ranks. At the gathering, the invited instructors taught young people how to use hand-to-hand combat, how to use firearms. At the end of the gathering, part of the most distinguished participants were handed out revolvers, rubber batons and cartridges with nerve gas, and ordered to come to the place of the next gathering in a week to continue their studies.

Give a criminal description of the situation.

Criteria for assessing practical (situational) tasks are given in Appendix 2.

Methodical recommendations to prepare for offset

The preparation for the test of the discipline "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" includes a repetition of the material studied. To simplify the preparation process, we recommend preparing and recording the answers to the questions, as well as mentioning the most difficult ones, which cause difficulties in preparation. It is also advisable to make a glossary of basic terms (concepts) for each topic.

During the preparation for the test, the student must systematize the whole body of knowledge obtained both in the course "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" and in other related disciplines - executive law, criminology, etc.).

The degree of readiness of the student for the exam is demonstrated by the fluency of the terminology of the discipline "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice", knowledge of Russian experts in the field of counter-terrorism and their main works, ability to navigate main issues of discussion discipline.

A sample list of questions for the exam on the subject "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice", as well as the criteria for evaluating the oral answer on the exam are given in Appendix 2.

METHODOLOGICAL RECOMMENDATIONS DETERMINING THE PROCEDURES FOR ESTIMATING THE RESULTS OF DISCIPLINE MASTERING

The current attestation of students in the discipline "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" is conducted in accordance with FEFU local regulations and is mandatory.

The current certification for the discipline "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" is conducted in the form of control measures (testing, writing an essay, solving situational problems) for evaluating students' actual learning outcomes and is carried out by leading a teacher.

Methods of testing students' knowledge:

1. Testing (PR-1), which allows you to check that students have a developed conceptual apparatus. Since when testing a student is required to choose the correct answer from several options, the advantage of this method is also the simplicity of the evaluation of results. The solution of tasks in the form of tests represents a certain training, which contributes to the activation of thinking and fixing in the memory of students of legal concepts and terms and other information.

2. Essay (PR-3), which involves the analysis of the problem posed on the basis of a study of regulatory legal acts, basic literature, additional literature, materials of judicial practice on the subject "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice, identifying existing gaps, problems, contradictions of legal regulation, their assessment, as well as proposing their own ways to resolve them.

4. The solution of practical (situational) tasks (PR-11), which shows the degree to which students have practical skills.

Objects of evaluation are:

- academic discipline (activity in the classroom, timeliness of performing various types of tasks, attendance of all types of classes in a certified discipline);
- degree of assimilation of theoretical knowledge;
- the level of mastery of practical skills in all types of academic work;
- results of independent work.

Intermediate certification of students in the discipline "Terrorism Counteraction: International Criminal Law and National Practice" is conducted in accordance with FEFU local regulations and is mandatory. Intermediate certification is carried out in the form of offset.

The test is held in the form of an oral survey - an interview (PP-1).

Interview (UO-1) is a means of control, organized as a special conversation between a teacher and a student on topics related to the discipline being studied, and designed to ascertain the student's knowledge of a specific section, topic, problem, etc.

Oral survey (interview) includes at least two questions with the preliminary preparation of the student (no more than 30 minutes).
